ABOUT ME

Hey! I'm Patricia, passionate about graphic design and web development.

I've been in the design world for over 5 years, but thanks to my previous job, I started to be very interested in web development. That's the reason why I dig more into the technology world.

I consider myself a resourceful and committed person who loves teamwork. My experience as a designer has taught me how to work under pressure and deliver the best results in difficult situations.

Outside of work, I enjoy my free time playing video games, watching some series, and spending time with my friends.
